S. T. Elliott is visiting Flagstaff and Williams for a few days

Harry Haskin is in Los Angeles selecting machinery for his big garage.

Rev. Father Vabre visited Gold Road and Oatman this week on church business.

Miss Veda Watkins departed last Sunday to California where she will visit for several months.

R. W. Wilde came up from Florida a few days ago and is looking after business matters while his father, F. A. Wilde, is on a business trip in the east.

Visitors from the Sandy report that the big trucks hauling over that road have left the highway in bad shape. These big trucks cut the roads into chuckholes, which puts light machines up against a hard condition.

Lee Kayser and Charles K. Ridenour came down from Hackberry Thursday evening and are looking over the country in company of W. K. Ridenour. Mr. Kayser is now a resident of Mesa, having a farm at that place.

The Old Trails Garage is now the agent for the Hummobile cars, and the best tire manufactured. This garage is capable of turning out the best work to be had between Kingman and Los Angeles.

E. J. Walters, of Flagstaff, is in Kingman for the purpose of relieving A. J. McKelvey at the Citizens Bank. Mr. McKelvey and family will leave for northern California after the first of the month and Mr. Walters will be the cashier permanently.

About the first of June the first crop of candidates for office will make their appearance. Owing to the date of the primaries candidates should place their names before the public that their qualifications may be generally discussed by the voters.

Mrs. Grady Gammage, a national lecturer of the W. C. T. U., gave a very interesting lecture at the M. E. church last Wednesday evening. She is well posted and an able speaker and her talk was enjoyed by all present. She visited Chloride Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown are in Kingman from the Copper Giant section. Mr. Brown is owner of some of the good copper property in that country that is sure to come into the market as soon as the United Verde gets the Copper Giant in ship shape.

An effort is being made to lay out a road into the pines of Wallapai mountains for a Sunday report during the summer months. Only a short piece of road will have to be built to make possible highway over the summit to the best camping grounds in the county.

Judge L. V. Root, who represented California at the good roads meeting in Indianapolis, arrived in Kingman yesterday and will visit a day or two with relatives. Mrs. Root is also here on a visit and contemplates returning home shortly. The newspaper plant, which was recently destroyed at Needles, will be replaced and a new and better Eye will be the result.

Walter Brown is in the northern Arizona strip looking for a cattle ranch. The country north of the Colorado now looks good to the cattlemen that have been gradually crowded out of the ranges in the more populous sections of the state. Several of the cattlemen that have recently disposed of their holdings in this county are looking over the range possibilities of southern Utah and northern Mohave counties.

Rev. Father Vabre came down from Flagstaff the first of the week and looked over the new road below Kingman with Supervisors George and Ridenour and Judge Krook, County Engineer R. P. Wheelock chaperoning the party. Father Vabre was well pleased with the work done and is very anxious to have this highway tied up with the roads of Coconino county along the line of the Old Trails road.

Prescott's Frontier Day.

Prescott, the Mile-High-City, is this year celebrating the Fourth of July with one of the greatest Frontier Day programs ever staged in this state. The only thing to be regretted is that this splendid celebration is being staged on a day when many of the other towns of the north part of the state are celebrating the Nation's Natal Day, and therefore detracting from this big show. But those who go from home to see the other fellow's show we would advise to not overlook the Prescott show. Prescott is most delightfully situated for a summer show, high among the pines, where the weather is always delightfully cool and refreshing and where there is always a welcome to the stranger within the gate.

Patrick Mehan, one of the old time miners of this section, died last Wednesday at the county hospital of tuberculosis. Mr. Mehan has been a sufferer of the dread disease many years and his death was not unexpected. He had worked in many of the big camps of the country and was well known to all the old time miners of the county.

Mary E. Burns and Agnes M. Kellogg, of Chicago, passed through Kingman a few days ago in a Hudson Six on their way from San Francisco to Chicago. They report having made excellent time from the Bay City to Kingman and expect to keep up the good work. The ladies are demonstrating the Hudson car and appear to know all about the mechanism of the machine.

J. S. Withers returned Thursday last from Los Angeles, where he has been looking after business affairs. And now that the county has secured the necessary money to continue road building, as chairman of the board of supervisors he will have his time well occupied during the next few months lining up the work that is to be done on the county roads. Mr. Withers has been one of the most active workers in the cause of good roads and is well backed up by the other members of the board.

Kingman is to have one of the most delightful celebrations of the Fourth of July that has ever been pulled off in any part of the state. The whole citizenship of the town has taken hold of the matter and will keep the thing going as long as there is any fun to be had. Money in plenty has been subscribed and the good fellows are putting up a great carnival of fun. Everybody should be here to see the many stunts pulled off and to enjoy every minute of the two days.

Ray L. Dimmick is getting ready to make a trip by auto from Kingman to Denver, thence over the mountain to Salt Lake and on to San Francisco. His wife and child and James Dundon will accompany him on the trip. Several weeks will be devoted to hunting and fishing in Colorado. The whole trip will be made by easy stages through the country. Mr. Dimmick is well acquainted with the mountain country of Colorado and expects to have the time of his life.

A rumor is rife that an agreement has been reached with the Santa Fe railroad company under which the bridge across the Colorado river is to be planked to allow automobiles to cross under the same restrictions as trains, but are unable to verify the report. If the report is true Mohave and San Bernardino counties will meet the expense of the work and a nominal charge will be made against each machine. This will be of incalculable benefit to the autoist, as it will do away with the long wait at Topock for train service and allow the machines to use their own power all the way.

Last Sunday afternoon a big crowd of Kingman people witnessed one of the best ball games of the season, and although Kingman lost they enjoyed the game. The final score was 5 to 3. Kingman made its three tallies in the first inning, but after that they went scoreless to the end. The day was windy and it was hard to judge a batted ball, but scores were cut off at opportune times, which accounts for the low tally. The Needles team is a very strong aggregation, made up of old time players of ability, while the Kingman boys are somewhat new at the game, with a few exceptions. Before the season is over we expect to turn the tables on this team, but if we don't we will surely have some fun trying.

A Play by Home Talent.

The rehearsals for the play to be given next Wednesday night in the Opera House are progressing nicely and the people of Kingman will be given a full evening of fun. The young ladies taking part are soon to leave to take a course in the summer school and are giving this entertainment for the purpose of helping out the library fund for the high school. Miss Mabel VanMarter will play a cornet solo and there will be the regular run of pictures. Don't fail to see the laughable sketch, "How the Story Grew," presented by the following cast: Mrs. J. L. Munds, Mrs. M. T. Somers, The Misses Altha Perry, Sadie Harris, Nadine Hubbs, Bessie Mulligan, Buena Hilty and Gladys St. Charles. Everybody come. Admission 50 cents.

Mrs. Belle Strohm, of Barstow, Cal., is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Ed. Carrow, for a few days.

The board of supervisors will meet next Monday and will probably make arrangements for the extension of road work on the east and west road. Other work will also be laid out and many improvements on the roads of the county may be expected.

Ben Welch, representing one of the big corrugated piping for road conduits, was a Kingman visitor this week talking up his iron culverts with the board of supervisors. Mr. Welch has sold many hundreds of carloads of these culvert pipes to the state and believes he could save Mohave county money by the use of this class of drainage material.

Tom O'Brien, at one time a resident of Kingman, but now living in Los Angeles, arrived in Kingman a few days ago on his way to the Grand Canyon. He was accompanied by C. C. Welch and other gentlemen of Needles. Mr. O'Brien has made a big wad of money in the Bakersfield country and is able to take the cares of life lightly.

George H. Sullivan returned from a year's sojourn in North Carolina and Tennessee the first of the week and expects to remain. He is the owner of valuable property in Kingman, and anyway he believes there is no place that compares with sunny Arizona. A few years ago Mr. Sullivan planted two English walnut trees to demonstrate their adaptability to the soil and climate of Kingman and is now pointing to these trees as an evidence that Kingman can grow these nuts to greater advantage than any place on the coast. A splendid crop was gathered from the trees last year and the trees are now loaded to the breaking point with them.
